

All about

WithYouWithMe (WYWM) is a veteran-led talent management company dedicated to tackling the global digital skills crisis. Named the Asia Pacific's fastest-growing tech company (Deloitte Technology Fast 50), WithYouWithMe partners with Five Eyes government and defence agencies to deliver high-value tech talent and increase their teams' productivity.

From a talent creation perspective, our software enables leaders to source, recruit and deploy diverse new talent into your organisation or find untapped talent within your existing workforce.

From a workforce management side, our proprietary profiling tool creates an accurate assessment of team productivity and employees' natural strengths, hidden abilities and potential to be successful in a role. This allows organisations to create meaningful career pathways for their employees with a focus on reskilling, career development and retention. It will also help guide your decision-making around workforce planning for change management and business transformation.

We have deployed this approach with the world's leading defence agencies, government organisations, Primes and technology providers, ensuring they have the talent they need to ride the digital wave.

WYWM is a global company with a presence in the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the United Kingdom.

Products and services

WYWM's SaaS platform, 'Potential', provides Defence agencies and companies with the world's only end-to-end talent pipeline system through a process of discovery, training and deploying talent to produce high-performing digital teams.

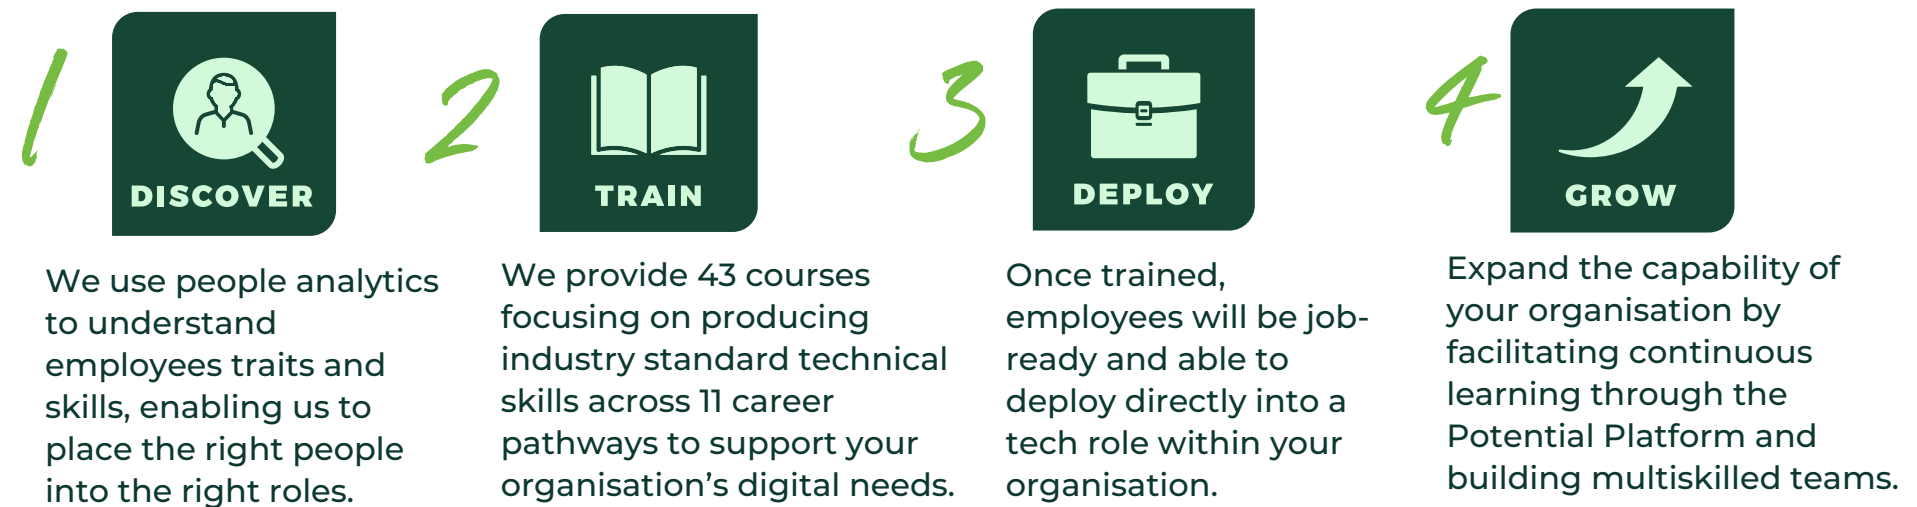

WYWM also offers professional services through the deployment of 'Squads' – teams of individuals from under-represented backgrounds who have completed WYWM's digital skills training. This helps organisations quickly plug their digital skills gap and bring greater diversity to their workforces.

WYWM can deliver SaaS frameworks that build advanced cyber capabilities. By building, training and deploying a Cyber Force, organisations are better equipped to provide defensive and offensive responses to cyber security threats.

The online training offered by WYWM ranges from entry-level to advanced courses across 13 of the most in-demand digital career pipelines, such as data analytics, software development and cyber security.

Given our extensive network of veterans and strong relationships with militaries across the Five Eyes, we hold one of the largest talent pools of security-cleared technologists in the world.

Using a Software Factory model, build in-house digital capabilities to empower teams to ideate and build technology solutions that meet evolving needs.
